What Our Shepherd Families Say About Peer Support:

“The peer support groups have been very helpful. Being able to communicate with others who have been in similar situations is important.”

SPOUSE CAREGIVER

“Great to hear stories from others going through this...helps to know that I am not alone.”

SIBLING CAREGIVER

“Always great topics and round table discussion. SO helpful to talk to others who have loved ones in similar situations and to learn other caregiver coping mechanisms.”

PARENT CAREGIVER

What Peer Support Is and How to Join Us!

At its root, Peer Support is the sharing of common experiences with others having faced similar challenges.

At Shepherd Center, Peer Support is one of our founding programs, enhancing patient and family centeredness. Peer Support walks alongside patients’ families and offers our own journeys as reference guides, coming together on a level impossible without shared experience.

Our Peer Support staff and volunteer mentors will listen with empathy because they walked the road of brain injury with their own loved one and have successfully navigated to a new normal.

How Peer Support Is Done

- One-to-one meetings with other family peer support mentors both inpatient and after discharge from Shepherd
- Group meetings
- Inpatient and outpatient classes & Family Peer Support Meetings
- Phone calls and/or texts
- Zoom or FaceTime
- Email
- Social media platforms

Within a week of being admitted to Shepherd, one of our peer support staff will reach out to the patient’s family. Families will also receive a series of emails to acquaint them with our program and the support opportunities available while inpatient, transitioning home, or to the next phase of therapy.

Peers Offer Many Insights:

- Community resources
- Accessibility and mobility barriers
- Recreation and leisure
- Managing relationships and feelings
- Self-care for the caregiver and how to avoid caregiver fatigue and burnout
- Effective use of time and energy
- Education and employment
- Self-advocacy and resourcefulness
- Staying motivated throughout the rehabilitation process
- Opportunities for social connections

Our Family Peer Support Mentors:

- Act as role models to encourage greater independence and self-care
- Serve as a support so that families and patients feel less alone as they navigate brain injury and rehabilitation
- Share coping skills and resources to effectively deal with problems
- Share knowledge gained through their own experience
- Offer emotional, social, or practical help

Tina and Charlie Burton became Peer Mentors after their son Cole’s journey at Shepherd!

Brian Kelly turned his family’s experience through stroke recovery into his passion for peer mentoring.

Your family can decide which method of support works best for you and your schedule. We are always happy to answer any questions you might have regarding brain injury and rehabilitation.
